Assessment of Family

The counselors understand that family is often a private affair and is sometimes difficult to discuss. However, relationships with your significant others and families are an important factor in the success of your treatment. Substance abuse affects your relationships with family members and significant others. In addition, family issues often precede an individual's substance abuse problems and/or may become a barrier to recovery. Therefore you are asked to complete this questionnaire in order to assist us in determining your needs that they relate to family issues.

Check all that apply:

_____ My family is caring.
_____ My family argues often.
_____ My family is supportive. Please explain: _____ _____
My family shows me affection.
_____ My family ignores me.
_____ My family is very critical.
_____ My family makes me proud.
_____ My family is strong.
_____ My family is weak.
_____ My family listens to my opinions.
_____ My family does not really know me.
_____ I have little/no contact with my child(ren).

I would like to make the following changes in the way my family relates to each other:
_____
_____

I understand that family involvement may be an integral part of my treatment at CAC. Family involvement may include, but not be limited to, family counseling, client education on family issues, and/or education groups for family members.

At this time, I am opting to:

_____ Involve my family and/or significant other in my treatment.
_____ Not involve my family and/or significant other in my treatment at this time, with the understanding that I can change my decision at a later time.

Infectious Disease Information

Tuberculosis Information – this is to provide with information; it is not asking you if you have TB

(TB) is a disease that is spread from person to person through the air, usually affecting the lungs. The germs (bacteria) can be put into the air when a person with TB coughs, sneezes, laughs, or talks. TB also affects other parts of the body, such as the brain, the kidney, or the spine.

A skin test can tell if you have TB infection. You can get a skin test from your doctor or local health department. A negative test usually means the person is not infected, but there is a chance that the test results can be a false-negative. The results may also be a false-negative if the person's immune system is not working properly. A positive result usually means that the person has been infected with the TB germ. It does not necessarily mean that the person as TB disease. Other tests, such as an x-ray or sputum sample, are needed to see if the person has TB disease.

Symptoms of TB may include:
Feeling weak or sick, weight loss, fever, and/or night sweats, cough, chest pain, and/or coughing up blood.

If you have TB infection or disease:
-Get required follow-up tests, follow your doctor's advice and take the prescribed medication
